Connect the eHealth Community

Invitation to Attend the Networking Conference

College of Political, Administrative and Communication Sciences
71 Traian Moşoiu Street, Room 101
March 4th, 2023

CONNECT is an Erasmus+ project aimed at fostering cooperation and innovation in the field of eHealth through multidisciplinary training for students from the academic fields of Health, Business, Engineering, and Informatics.

The project is a Strategic Partnership implemented by Babeş-Bolyai University and the University of Porto, Portugal, and the NGOs FreshBlood HealthTech, Romania, and the European Initiative for Education, Austria.

Over the past year, we have succeeded in building a European academic community in the field of eHealth and providing students with an educational program designed to improve their knowledge, skills, and cross-sectoral competencies needed in the process of health innovation. We have also developed an interactive course and community of practice focused on eHealth, available on the CONNECT website. We invite you to create personal accounts and connect with already active members of the CONNECT community.

The "Connect the eHealth Community" Conference

The project is due for completion this spring, and we are organizing the "Connect the eHealth Community" conference on 4 March 2023. The event will take place in Cluj-Napoca at the College of Political, Administrative and Communication Sciences at 71 Traian Moşoiu Street, Room 101, and online on the Zoom platform from 09:30-16:30. The audience will consist of about 100 students and people working in the fields of Health, Business, Engineering, and Informatics, with a common interest in eHealth.

The theme of the conference is to bring together professionals, experts, and students to exchange experiences and learn new insights from the international and local ecosystems. The conference will provide an excellent platform for participants to learn from each other, disseminate new health innovation initiatives, and expand their professional network. The event is organized in three discussion panels focusing on Digital Health: International ecosystem perspective, Local ecosystem perspective, and Student perspective.

We are looking for enthusiastic and knowledgeable individuals who would like to attend the conference as speakers and share their perspectives and expertise on recent trends in the field of health innovation. If you would like to be a speaker at the conference, please let us know and provide a brief summary of your proposed topic. Please let us know by 15 February 2023 whether or not you would be interested in being part of one of the three panels.
